Another bill was introduced in the house

Another bill was introduced in the house Another bill was introduced in the house last week bearing on prohibition, but the measure introduced yesterday is the official bill of the Anti-saloon league, endorsed by the leaders of the movement. It will be the bill which will bear the brunt of the fight. It was introduced yesterday by Representative Joseph J. Cannon, who shortly after his election identified himself with the prohibitionists.

The re-election of Reed Smoot to the United States senate is an important political event. No serious opposition to Smoot developed until the lost moment, when the prohibition question question was injected into the fight. Many of the legislators who were for prohibition endeavored to force Smoot to go on record in support of prohibition, and that they might do so, suggested the name of Heber M. Wells, former governor of Utah, as a possible opponent to Smoot.

The action of these insurgents really frightened the Smoot followers and a caucus was hurriedly called on Monday evencus was hurriedly called on Monday evening that the members might be pledged to vote for Smoot. The Wells people, knowing their weakness, attempted to adjourn the caucus and to make the fight on the floor of the legislature. The effort failed by a vote of 20 to 29, which was an indication that the opposition to Smoot was a riprisingly strong. The fight for an adjournment was, however, the final effort of the insurgents, and they thereupon fell over themselves to get in line for Smoot, who was the unanimous choice of the Republicans who attended the caucus,

On Tuesday the senate voted unanimously for Smoot's re-election. Forty-three Republican members of the house voted for Smoot, while the Democratic members—Morris of Washington and Hammond of Grand—gave their votes to Judge William H. King. On Wednesday both houses canvassed the vote in joint assembly and declared the election of Reed Smoot by a vote of 61 to 2.

Cache provides for the reduction, or rather open to homestead entry. Because of the fact that it is impracticable to irrigate this land, there has been but little of it taken up under homestead entry. It is capable of cultivation, however, by dry farming methods and may be disposed of to large companies.

In the house yesterday a similar memorial was introduced in order that by morial was introduced in order that by morial was introduced in a senate bill introduced.

Cache provides for the reduction, or rather equalizing, of the entrance fee at the agricultural college. The fee for non-resident students is lowered from $25 to $10, while that of residents is raised from $5 to $10. This bill carries out a recommendation of Utah's riches will be taken care of by experts in their different lines.

the faculty and regents, as well as the students, to greater attainments.

At least two measures were introduced during the week which, if passed, will prove of great help to the university. One was a resolution introduced in the house by Cannon, approving of the application of the University of Utah to be among the universities of the country to be benefited by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. The other was a house bill, by Thompson of Millard, providing for the establishment of an experiment station in connection with the State School of mines at the university. Both measures follow out recommendations made by Governor Spry in his message to the legislature.

Senator Rudolph Kuchler champions the cause of the women's clubs of the state in a bill providing for the state control of the traveling libraries of the state, of the traveling libraries of the state, of the traveling circulated at the secretary. Mr. McNicol may deliver a brief address on the development of electrical energy and its source and application in Itah. The visit of the members of both houses to the University of Utah on Thursday will undoubtedly result in much needed legislation favorable to that institution. The legislators were surprised and impressed with the extensive work of the institution and a large majority of them favored legislation that would encourage the faculty and regents, as well as the students, to greater attainments.

At least two measures were introduced cause of the women's clubs of the state of the traveling libraries of the women's clubs of the state. The bill provides that the state pay the expenses of the circulating libraries, but that the control be vested in a board of women, members of the women's clubs, to be chosen by the governor.

Representative D. H. Morris of Washington introduced a bill in the house increasing the salaries of country school teachers and providing for greater efficiency by placing them more directly under the supervision of the state board of education.

A bill making the holding of coroners' inquests by justices of the peace compulsory in all cases where persons have lost their lifes through what appears to be accident, suicide or unlawful means, was introduced in the house by Representative Holman of Salt Lake. The purpose of the bill is to determine more accurately of the bill is to determine more accurately than at present the exact cause of all deaths and to fix the responsibility.

Several bills were introduced during the week by Representative Russell of Salt Lake, relative to the duties and fees of county sherifts. Representative Russell was formerly connected with the sheriff's office of Salt Lake county and his bills reflect the recommendations for legislation of former Sheriff Emery and Sheriff-elect Sharp.

An unique and artistic feature of the inaugural bill will be the distribution of an illustrated souvenir of the inauguration of the governor. The book is one of the handsomest publications of its kind ever issued in connection with the inauguration of a governor in the state. It contains photographs of Governor Spry. his staff and the state officers as well as tains photographs of Governor Spry. his staff and the state officers, as well as of all of the members of the legislature. A short history of the state is written by Fisher Harris of the Commercial club, and John N. Hardy, secretary to the governor, has contributed a biography of Governor Spry. There are twenty-eight pages of photographs. The publishers of the Inaugural Souvenir are Travers & Rooney of 212 D. F. Walker building.

During the week a joint committee composed of members of the senate and house will visit the branch normal operated at Cedar City in connection with the University of Utah. The party will leave Salt Lake on Tuesday or Wednesday, returning next Sunday.

Murdock of Beaver. The bill is an amendment of sections 331 and 394 of the present law. It provides that the fees of grand jurors and trial jurors in the district court shall receive $2.50 a day and 20 cents the mile one way for distance necessarily traveled. A juror who is excused on his own motion the first day shall not receive per diem or mileage. Witnesses now are entitled to $2 a day and 20 cents a mile in going only. The bill was referred to the committee on salaries and fees.
